

LUX EXPOSÉ

With freezing temps on the forecast for NYC this week, indoor amenities are top-of-mind for buyers at some of the city's most luxurious condos. Indoor pools, which are not prey to weather, can offer a little taste of summer amidst the cold. We found 4 breathtaking indoor pools that have everything from dramatic architecture, to sweeping views, and beyond. Whether residents are looking to spend the day splashing about with the family or are seeking an alternative for their daily exercise, these luxury Manhattan residential buildings have a range of options.

200 East 83rd

Naftali and Rockefeller Groups' new Upper East Side residential tower 200 East 83rd is the first collaboration between Robert A.M. Stern Architects and Rottet Studio, the renowned interior design firm. Rottet Studio designed the building's 86 bespoke residences and shared spaces, while RAMSA created a suite of club-like amenities.

The 17th floor at 200 East 83rd features a seventy-foot pool. Uniquely situated in the middle of the 35-story limestone-clad tower, the pool room features a vaulted ceiling, honed limestone walls and a double-height loggia with floor-to-ceiling arched windows and French doors. Since launching 30% pre-sold in October, 200 East 83rd has already broken neighborhood sales records and the amenities have been noted as a huge selling point for buyers.
